For Syndicate News every week read

David Astor

"When I tell people I have to read the comics for my job, I don't get a lot of sympathy. But after I finish scanning the day's funnies — and editorial cartoons and columns — there's plenty of work to do. Newspaper syndication is a big business, and my weekly coverage of the field includes breaking news stories, trend pieces, new feature announcements, and profiles of famous and up-and-coming creators. But it's fun work. I hope you enjoy the 'Syndicates' section as much as I enjoy writing it."

David Astor has written Editor & Publisher's illustrated "Syndicates" section since early 1983. During that time, he has reported on syndicate mergers, covered "Doonesbury" and Pulitzer Prize controversies and interviewed people like Milton Caniff, Coretta Scott King, Jeane Kirkpatrick, Ann Landers, Charles M. Schulz, Abigail Van Buren and Dr. Ruth Westheimer. So when you want to stay on top of syndication happenings, join the feature editors, syndicate executives, cartoonists, columnists and others who read David's section.

EARTHWEEK: A Diary of the Planet

By Steve Newman

Earthquakes

Hawaii's strongest quake in six years shook a sparsely populated area of the Big Island that had just been ravaged by lava from Kilauea volcano. The 6.0 magnitude quake injured at least five people, destroyed two homes, caused mudslides and produced a tidal wave that was measured as high as two feet along the island's south shore. In the three days before the quake, creeping lava from Kilauea had destroyed the Visitor Center at the Hawaii Volcanos National Park and threatened an ancient Hawaiian temple.

At least 30 people were treated for minor injuries and for shock in the Ecuadorian port of Esmeraldas after e struck the area. gs were damaged, water service was roduction at the st oil refinery was al hours. ents were also felt in a, western Wyoming es.

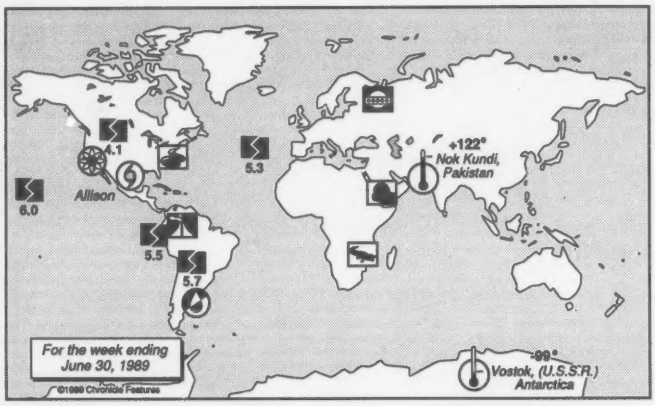
mnants of hurricane reorganized in the Mexico and gained e again before mov- as coast near Hous- nds of only 55 miles al storm Allison pro- 10 and 20 inches of Houston area north- a where widespread and severe flooding occurred. Severe thunderstorms and tornadoes were also spawned by the storm.

Nevada Test

The United States exploded its seventh nuclear bomb of the year and the second within a week on June 27. Codenamed "Amarillo", the blast had a force of between 20 and 150 kilotons, and swayed Las Vegas high-rise buildings.



Power Drought

Portions of South America continue to suffer from a drought that has idled many of the hydroelectric turbines on rivers from the Argentine Andes to Uruguay. For several weeks, Uruguay bought electricity from neighboring Argentina, but now both countries have been forced to cut power for up to six hours each day. Uruguayan grazing land has dried out and water is being trucked in for livestock.

Croc Kill

The Tanzania government is killing crocodiles in Lake Rukwa because the reptiles have become so numerous that they threaten the lake's fish population. Permission was given by the Paris-based International Convention for Trade in Endangered Species to kill up to 3,000 crocodiles after villagers living around the lake complained of the disappearing fish and multiplying reptiles.

Spills

Three major oil tanker spills marred United States coastal areas in Galveston Bay, Delaware Bay and near Newport, Rhode Island. The Coast Guard and Environmental Protection Agency, still smarting from allegations of sloth after the Alaska oil spill, reacted quickly, and were able to help prevent serious environmental damage from these much smaller spills.

Volcano

The Nevado del Ruiz volcano, which in 1985 caused Colombia's worst natural disaster with an eruption that killed 23,000 people, spewed ashes on June 27 after registering a gradual rise in seismic activity. A half-inch film of ash coated the area's rivers, and aircraft were warned not to fly within a 40-mile radius of the volcano. The crater was also emitting a strong sulphuric odor.

Soviet Sightings

A rash of UFO sightings in the Vologda region of the USSR's Russian Republic was reported by Tass. Children told of several spheres touching down in a meadow near Konantsevo on June 6. Other sightings included a fiery ball over Vologda on June 11, and an "enigmatic" object which appeared three times larger than an airplane as it flew over Cherepovetsk on April 24.

Monkey Raid

A band of mountain monkeys descended on a restaurant in southwestern Saudi Arabia and carried off several roast chickens in a surprise raid. The hungry marauders, coming down from the Al-Tharawat mountains, took the restaurant staff by surprise by suddenly rushing at the tables of the half-empty eatery. The lightning attack left the restaurant strewn with broken glasses and plates.

IRAQ: THE OTHER WAR

There is a cease-fire in the eight-year-old war between Iraq and Iran, but there has been little letup in the internal Iraqi war against its own Kurdish citizens.

The Kurds — a non-Arab Muslim people numbering about 3.5 million (out of a total Iraqi population of about 17 million) — inhabit the far northern region of the country. They have lived in Iraq since a 1920 treaty signed by the European powers split the 20 million Kurds who formed the Ottoman Empire between what is now the Soviet Union, Turkey, Iran, Iraq and Syria.

For decades the Kurds in Iraq have sought independence, which was promised in an unrecognized section of the 1920 treaty. Over the last decade violence has escalated as Kurdish guerrillas, known as the pesh mergas (those who face death), stepped up their fighting.

Angered that many Kurds sided with Iran during the long war, Iraq has intensified attempts to wipe out the pesh mergas. More than 60,000 Iraqi troops have moved against the Kurds, and there are charges — and considerable evidence — that in March, and again in September, Iraqi planes attacked Kurdish villages with chemical bombs. Thousands of Kurds were killed.

TV EXTRA

FOR EXTRA-IMPACT, EXTRA-REVENUE ADVERTISING.

TV EXTRA is a boldface promotion service that displays a program advertisement within the rolling log of the television listing. These ads are separated from the listings with ruled lines, and a notation "adv," identifying them as paid advertisements. TV EXTRA is so simple for you to administer, since our ads are inserted by computer at TV DATA, when your listings are created. There's virtually no extra work required of you. At TV EXTRA, we take care of all those extras.

The Los Angeles Times Syndicate International is the overseas marketing division of LATS. LATSI (as it's called) sells features that originate from LATS' home office in Los Angeles, or from its own offices in New York and Salt Lake City.

Since its inception in 1983, LATSI has become a leader in international syndication. The New York office services Europe, the Mideast and Near East, Africa and Australia; the Salt Lake City office services Canada, Latin America, Hispanic America and the Far East. In 1987, LATSI launched a new translation service for Spanish- and Portuguese-language markets.

Traveling frequently to countries throughout the world and responding to the editorial needs of the international publishing market, LATSI's sales staff has made LATSI the most effective foreign syndication operation in the world.

Where Light Nourishes Life

The winners of the Nobel Prize for chemistry determined the three–dimensional structure of a protein complex that is crucial to a bacterial version of photosynthesis. These proteins, which penetrate the cell membrane, help the bacterium convert the energy of sunlight into chemical energy. The bacterium uses the energy to build organic chemicals from carbon dioxide and water. The products of photosynthesis nourish all plants and animals.

THE NEW YORK TIMES PICTURE SERVICE
Photos, charts and maps make up the NYT Picture Service. A total of from 25 to 30 pieces of art keyed to News Service copy is mailed to clients five times per week. A picture advisory is transmitted daily. Upon request, art can be transmitted to you via Wirephoto.

CREATORS SYNDICATE

Archie

Dear Editor:

We are extremely grateful for your support, which has made us the fastest growing syndicate in the world. Started in January 1987, Creators Syndicate's explosive growth is unprecedented in the 100-year history of newspaper syndication.

As we enter the 1990s, the challenge of attracting new readers to newspapers has never been greater. Our No. 1 goal is to help meet this challenge by representing "only the best" columns, comics and editorial cartoons for your newspaper.

Working together, I have no doubt that we will continue meeting this challenge.

Sincerely,

Richard S. Newcombe

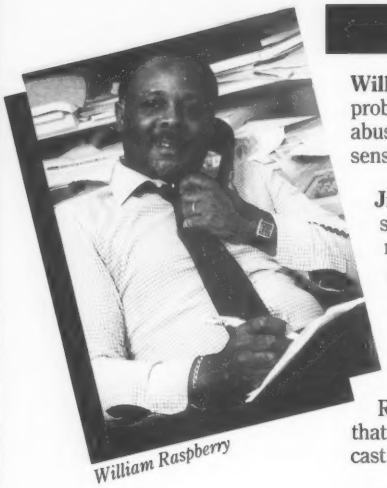
COMMENTARY

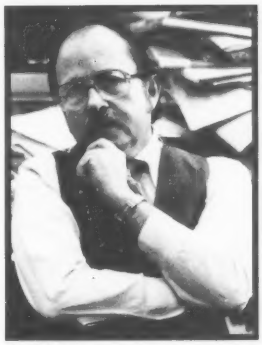


William Raspberry

William Raspberry A search for self-reliant solutions to urban problems, in easy, accessible style. Housing, education, drug abuse, welfare reform, justice—commentary with common sense, free of ideological shackles. Twice weekly.

Jim Hoagland The Washington Post's chief foreign correspondent reports from Paris and elsewhere on how America's role is changing. Analysis of foreign events and the new global politics. Twice weekly. A Pulitzer Prize winner for international news reporting.

Lou Cannon Winner of the Merriman Smith and Gerald R. Ford awards for White House reporting for the Washington Post, Cannon is writing a book about the Reagan years. Meantime, he's continuing his weekly column that tracks the doings of the presidency and its supporting cast.



Lou Cannon

Colman McCarthy Feisty liberal commentary that skewers complacency and engages readers. Public-mindedness as an answer to community discord. "An active-duty troublemaker . . . constantly reminding us that we could—and should—be doing better."—The Progressive. Twice weekly.

David S. Broder

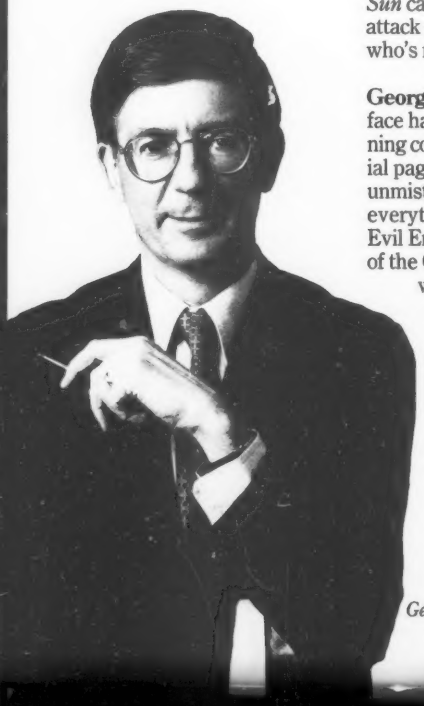
David S. Broder Year after year, the best political commentary from the Washington Post journalist regarded as the nation's best political reporter. His twice-weekly Pulitzer Prize-winning column appears in 337 newspapers.

Edwin M. Yoder, Jr. Elegantly phrased commentary from a wise and independent mind. American traditions and politics are his main subjects. Twice weekly.

Neal Peirce A grass-roots report on how local and state governments respond to economic, social and political change. "Probably the country's most knowledgeable journalist on the problems of the cities"—Washington Journalism Review. Weekly.

Mike Lane One of a vanishing breed, this Baltimore Evening Sun cartoonist is an unalloyed liberal. But his editorial cartoons attack political foolishness and incompetence, regardless of who's responsible. Four per week.

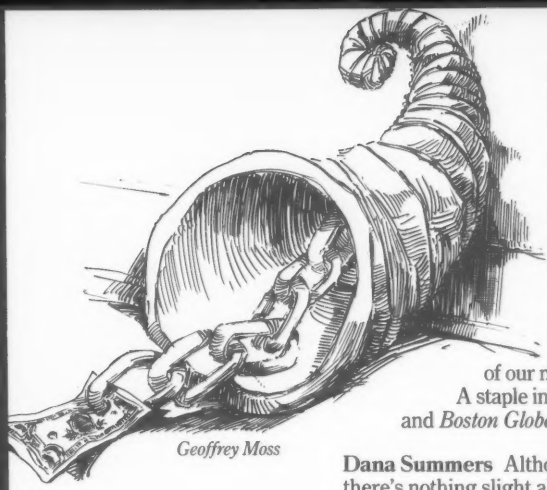
George F. Will Conservatism with a kindly face has made his Pulitzer Prize-winning column a fixture on 476 editorial pages. Provocative, witty, unmistakable style—on everything from the still-Evil Empire to the frustrations of the Chicago Cubs. Twice weekly.



George F. Will

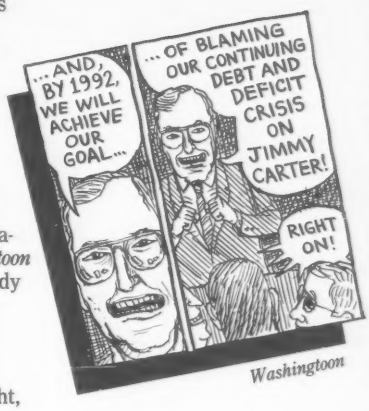
Ellen Goodman This Boston Globe columnist won a Pulitzer in 1980 and is a favorite in 428 papers. Her fresh, discerning look at contemporary issues helps editorial pages attract hard-to-get readers. Twice weekly.

Ellen Goodman



Geoffrey Moss

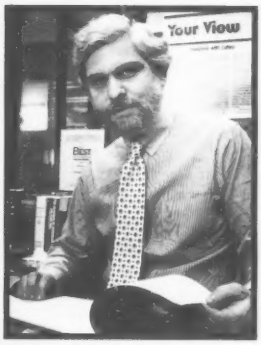
Geoffrey Moss Ten timely drawings each month from one of the nation's top illustrators. Mossprints can add a touch of class to your opinion pages. Conceptual graphics on issues in the news, but useful for months or even years, as the news dictates.



Washingtoon

Washingtoon A large, once-weekly editorial-page cartoon, with continuing fictional characters and pointed dialogue. Mark Alan Stamaty's Washingtoon is an eye-catching, not-so-gentle parody of our nation's capital and its power brokers. A staple in such papers as the Washington Post and Boston Globe.

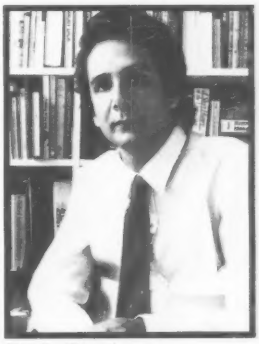
Dana Summers Although his ideology is slightly to the right, there's nothing slight about this Orlando Sentinel cartoonist. Clear, pungent and on-target. Four per week.



Richard Cohen

Richard Cohen Pertinent and impertinent. Confronts tough social and political issues with an intimate liberal sensibility. He's on "a short list of political commentators worth an intelligent citizen's time."—Philadelphia Inquirer. Twice-weekly, with frequent weekly specials.

Charles Krauthammer 1987 Pulitzer Prize after just two years as a weekly columnist. Winner of the 1984 National Magazine Award for criticism. His original, nondoctrinaire columns bring new meaning to the word "elucidate."



Charles Krauthammer

BUSINESS/ECONOMICS

Hobart Rowen Twice weekly, "Economic Impact" conveys the importance of the relationship of economics to political decisions. Combines shoe-leather reporting with strong opinion, for op-ed or business pages. Winner of two Gerald Loeb awards.

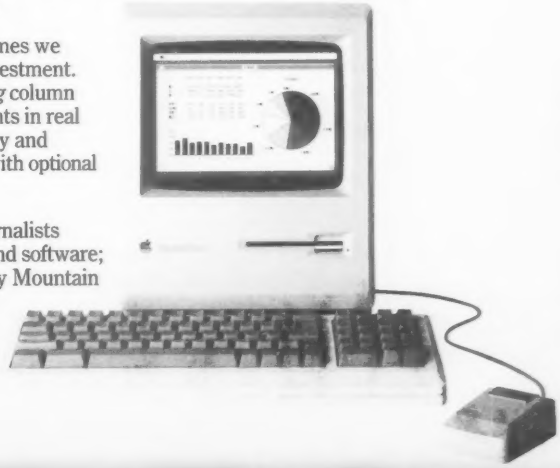
Jane Bryant Quinn "Staying Ahead" describes the purpose of her twice-weekly personal-finance column, now in more than 200 newspapers. Hancock Award winner, lecturer, author, TV reporter—a familiar and trusted byline with the most readable style in the field.

Jane Bryant Quinn

Robert Kuttner Economics and politics blended in a weekly column about financial, fiscal and pocketbook issues, answering the important question of who gets what. This veteran journalist demystifies economics for editorial or business-page readers. 1989 Hancock Award winner.

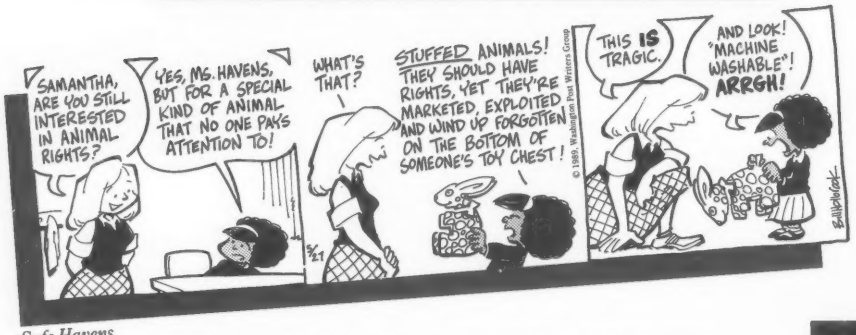
Kenneth R. Harney The homes we live in are often our largest investment. Harney's The Nation's Housing column reports hard-news developments in real estate, vital to both the industry and home-buyers. This weekly column, with optional illustration, is in 100 newspapers.

Computer Report



Computer Report Two veteran journalists write about their favorite computers and software; also industry trends. T.R. Reid, Rocky Mountain bureau chief of the Washington Post, and Brit Hume, ABC News' chief White House correspondent, stay on the cutting edge of this fast-moving technology. Weekly.

FEATURES/COMICS



Safe Havens

Safe Havens A family-life comic strip with a unique niche: The kids aren't home during the day; they're in day care, a reality for millions of working parents. Warm, funny, realistic. Six days a week, by Bill Holbrook.

Stephanie Brush A new-generation humor columnist for editorial and feature pages. Her best-selling book, Men: An Owner's Manual, set the standard she maintains in her twice-weekly column.

Stephanie Brush

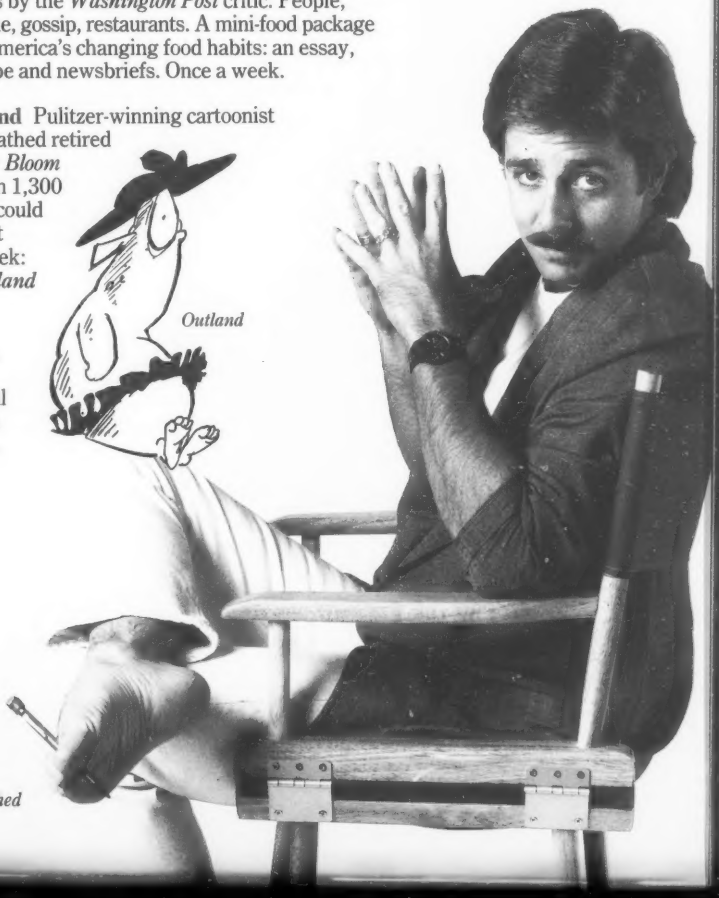
Thomas Boswell Many editors regard Boswell as the nation's best sportswriter. His elegant prose and keen insights into our favorite national games earned him 50 papers in the first month of syndication in 1989. Twice weekly, often for immediate release.

Phyllis C. Richman

Phyllis C. Richman The cutting edge on food trends by the Washington Post critic. People, cuisine, gossip, restaurants. A mini-food package on America's changing food habits: an essay, recipe and newsbriefs. Once a week.

Outland Pulitzer-winning cartoonist Berkeley Breathed retired his daily and Sunday Bloom County when it was in 1,300 papers. Why? So he could concentrate his talent into one vehicle a week: his Sunday-only Outland strip. Renowned character "Opus" is joined by a new cast, with seriocomic results that will enthrall readers. Available in black-and-white, too.

Outland

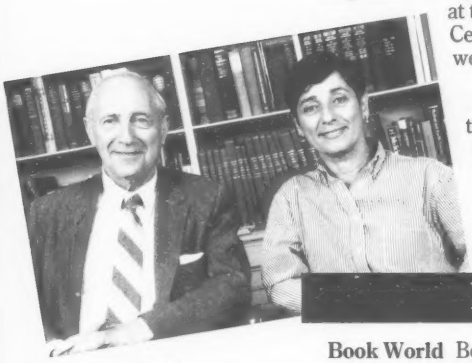


Berkeley Breathed

A lively and credible blend of news and service journalism, from the winner of the 1985 National Magazine Award for general excellence. Twice weekly: one an incisive article, the other a set of ground-breaking "shorts" that tell readers the latest in health advances.

Those age 65 and above are the fastest-growing segment of our population. Medical and non-medical specialists at the UCLA/USC Long Term Care Gerontology Center address their unique concerns in this weekly q&a column.

The definitive word on nutrition from the president of Tufts University and his colleague, dietitian Jeanne Goldberg, R.D., Ph.D. Two "Food for Thought" columns a week—one an essay, the other q&a—help people live longer, healthier lives.



Dr. Jean Mayer and Jeanne Goldberg, R.D., Ph.D.

MEDIA/ARTS

Book World Both best-seller and undiscovered titles are offered by the Washington Post's acclaimed Book World service. Daily and Sunday-supplement reviews, plus literary features, strengthen locally written book-review sections. Now offered high-speed (plus pickup rights to all reviews in the section).

Eleanor Randolph The foibles of "The News Business" are the subject of a once-weekly column by this Washington Post media reporter. Unsparing on-the-news commentary will give your readers confidence that the press is monitoring its own.

Tom Shales 1988 Pulitzer Prize for criticism; ASNE distinguished writing award. No wonder the Washington Post's TV critic's inimitable wit and style are a magnet for readers. Twice weekly, with news-responsive specials. "The cool medium's hottest critic."—Washington Journalism Review.

Tom Shales

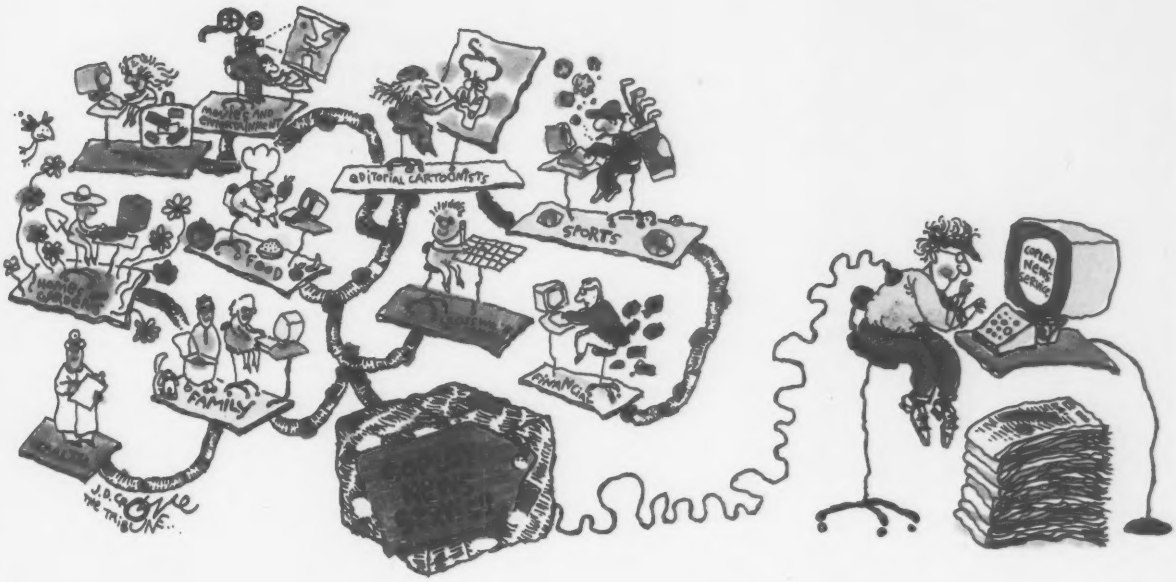
AN EDITOR ALONE HAS THE STRENGTH OF A HUNDRED.



Nat Hentoff
Opinion Columnist

Suzy
Gossip Columnist

There is nothing quite like a newspaper or magazine. It's the hot line readers tap into for news analysis. It's their pipeline to what's happening everywhere, from down home to lunar landings. And it's the heartline of every community from America to Asia.

With the help of Copley News Service's 100 journalists and headliners, an editor has a lineup that makes his job a lot easier. Add to that reports from our bureaus in Sacramento, Los Angeles, Mexico City, Chicago, Springfield and Washington D.C., plus a dose of our award-winning graphics, color photos, caricatures and cartoons, and you have the write stuff at your fingertips.

We're doing the write thing now for editors at more than 1,500 newspapers across the country, from small weeklies to big city dailies.

We'd like to help you, too. Call us today for a complete menu and complimentary samples of the bylines that do great things for the newspaper's bottom line.

"ALL MARKETERS USE THE GUIDE..."

MAKING MONEY 161

tion. Even after McDonald's had built one of the retailing industry's most sophisticated real estate departments, Kroc regularly contributed suggestions on new sites. The Editor & Publisher Market Guide, an inch-thick directory listing all newspapers in the United States and describing the population and commerce of the towns in which they are located, was Kroc's constant reading companion. All marketers use the guide in locating new outlets, but few knew it more intimately than Kroc. Copies of it were kept on his Gulfstream jet, and Kroc quickly turned to it if he spotted from the air a small town that looked like a good site for a McDonald's. Even in the founder's late seventies, long after he had turned over the reins of the company to Turner, the E&P Guide was Kroc's evening reader. "Ray practically slept with that thing," notes Wilburn H. "Wib" Sutherland, McDonald's real estate vice president. And when Kroc spotted a town that might support a new McDonald's, he was on the phone the next day.

A successful newspaper feature has three essential elements: an exceptional talent, an aggressive syndicate, and a discerning newspaper editor. Universal Press Syndicate's success is built on the relationship among these elements. As we work to develop great features, we rely on you to recognize talent and invest in its future.

But it's also a good idea to examine the present — and what a present it is for Universal and its subsidiary companies — Andrews and McMeel (publishing) and its gift and stationery arm, OZ, Universal Licensing, and Trexler Industries (needlecraft designs and kits). The achievements of our creators are remarkable!

For three of the last five years, UPS cartoonists have won the Reuben Award given by the National Cartoonists Society for Outstanding Cartoonist of the Year. This year, Bill Watterson, the creator of Calvin and Hobbes, became the youngest cartoonist ever to win this honor twice — and within three years. Our comics continue to dominate readership surveys across the country, and You chose them first.

We are equally proud of our stellar lineup of columnists, commentators and editorial cartoonists, and are delighted to fill your newspaper's color needs and enhance your use of color through a variety of color services.

1989 marks a year of significant milestones. We will celebrate 10 years of syndication for The Far Side (1985 and 1988 winner of the Best Syndicated Panel Award from the NCS) and For Better of For Worse (Lynn Johnston was the Reuben Award winner for 1985). It is also the 20th anniversary of The Mini Page, the premier children's feature in U.S. newspapers. Betty Debnam's creation is a great resource for newspapers in their fight against illiteracy and in their efforts to ensure an audience of future readers.

We're eager to forge ahead. As we approach the landmark of our own 20th anniversary in 1990, we recognize and thank you for taking a risk on us back when we were the new kids on the block. You've come to expect a high level of quality from us, and we stand committed to deliver it to you in the future, as we've delivered it to you in the past. Remember, we can't do it without you!

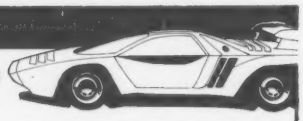
Wanna sell auto ads?



Quality editcrial attracts advertisers and readers. You may use AUTO HOW-TOs as editorial or as adver-torial for your automotive section. Simply sell one big ad buyer a long term contract . . . and affix his sponsorship or by-line to the AUTO HOW-TOs column every two weeks.

Technical columns emphasizing intelligent car care and intelligent buying habits are spaced with the latest popular trends in new cars. Each column is accompanied by a b&w photo and/or illustration to attract attention.

AUTO HOW-TOs, written by David M. Ward, J.A. Kruza, and Steven Power, offers a positive slant on the automobile business so you can sell more automotive ads. Available only on an annual contract, each of the 26 bi-weekly columns is reasonably priced at $40 for over 40M, and $30 for less circulation.

Syndicated by: Kruza Kaleidoscopix, Inc., P.O. Box 389, Franklin, MA 02038. Call for review samples (508) 528-6211.

What's Different About C.A.R.S.?

C.A.R.S. automotive articles are written by experts who recognize that most people aren't car enthusiasts; that in fact, most people would prefer not to deal with cars at all if they could avoid it. Consequently, C.A.R.S stories are nontechnical and unintimidating, offering interesting and useful information for the average reader, with a bit of humor for a light touch.

C.A.R.S. provides insights and observations on subjects such as:

- Trends in the automotive market
- Significant federal actions affecting the relationship of people to their cars
- Personalities affecting the automotive scene
- Vehicle and product evaluations
- Consumer advice and assistance
- Driving techniques and attitudes

There's an industry buzz about the year's hottest new comics. Before you make another change in your line-up, be sure to consider two innovative strips from Lew Little, veteran syndicate editor, whose earlier discoveries include Garfield, Sally Forth, Marvin, Luann, Tumbleweeds, Simple Beasts and Drabble.

SIBLING REVELRY

Cartoonist Man Martin provides keen insights into contemporary life with a delightful tongue-in-cheek spoof of the bittersweet competition of childhood. This emotion-grabbing comic, written primarily for adults, features a pair of adversarial pre-teens and their divorced, career mother. Charter clients include:

•Rocky Mountain News •Baltimore Morning Sun•Nashville Tennesseean•Sacramento Bee•Dallas Morning News•Montreal Gazette•Minneapolis Star Tribune•Orange County Register•Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

THE FUSCO BROTHERS

J. C. Duffy, a successful designer of greeting cards, has come up with the four Fusco bachelors, a wacky set of roommates who startle and engage readers in off-the-wall antics and hilarious searches for love and life's meaning. This outrageously-original feature achieves a new level of sophistication for comics pages. Major clients include:

•New York Daily News •Detroit News•Seattle Times•Tampa Tribune•San Diego Union•Cincinnati Post•Philadelphia Daily News•Dallas Times-Herald•San Francisco Chronicle.

Sibling Revelry was launched June 26. The Fuscos were slated for an autumn debut, but the daily/Sunday start dates were advanced to August 7/13 at the request of many editors who saw the feature as an ideal replacement for the discontinuing Bloom County. For samples, write Lew Little Enterprises, P.O. Box 850, Borrego Springs, California 92004, or call (619) 767-3148. Ask for Lew, or for Mary Ellen Corbett, managing editor.

The Gadget Guru

Guru makes life easier for readers

Not to mention the circulation departments

The Gadget Guru is a column readers can trust.

It's the feature of the future!

Once a week, the Guru translates the confusing world of new products into an informative easy to read column for both inexperienced and sophisticated consumers.

In other words, he takes the confusion and mystery out of hi-tech shopping.

He researches, travels to trade shows, compares and contrasts the latest gadgets - - on the market and down the road - - and evaluates with an unbiased opinion.

Offered in syndication since April 1989, the Gadget Guru is home based with the Tennessean, and can already be found in The Orange County Register, St. Petersburg Times, San Antonio Light, Sacramento Bee, Bangor Daily News, Courier-Post, Evening Times and The Sun-Herald. Reader response has been phenomenal!

Call or write for a sample package before your competition gets the bright idea.

What do your readers do before they get the paper?

Most of them get on the scale.

More than half of adult Americans are forging a weight-conscious lifestyle. In fact, more than 75 percent of adults are actively dieting. These readers are better educated, with better incomes, and they want information.

Give your readers what they want with a lively, responsible weight-control column. It's written in a reader-friendly style by academic professionals and based on research and work with hundreds of patients.

"Weighing the Choices" offers expertise on psychology, medicine, nutrition and exercise. Just right for the savvy weight-conscious reader who wants fact, not fad.

The column has been running weekly for two years in the Charleston, SC Sunday Post/Courier, and is available now in 13-week, 26-week and 52-week packages.

For sample columns, write to:

Patrick M. O'Neil, Ph.D., "Weighing the Choices"
P.O.Box 891, Sullivan's Island, SC 29482

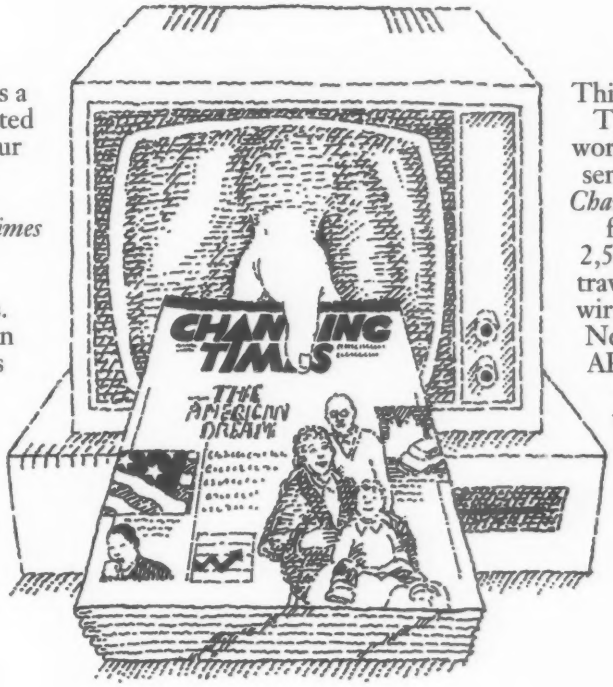
The Changing Times Financial Service
The best in personal-finance features, available free to all AP members

Editors, if your paper is a member of the Associated Press, you can offer your readers a full array of feature articles from Kiplinger's ChangingTimes magazine, the leader in personal-finance journalism for 42 years. Every month more than one million subscribers turn to Changing Times magazine for advice on money management, taxes, careers, investment, insurance, and more.



This is how the Changing Times Financial Service works: Every weekend AP sends out a package from Changing Times with three feature articles totaling 2,500 words. The articles travel on AP's high-speed wire, DataStream, the AP Newsfeature wire and by AP mail as camera-ready copy. There's nothing to order, no additional fees to pay. All you have to do is select the articles you want to use.

Here's a sample of articles that have been available through the Changing Times Financial Service in recent months:

7 Deadly Investment Sins
Cheap Car Loans vs. Rebates
Best Tax Shelters in 50 States
Getting Rich $100 at a Time
How to Get the Most from Two Incomes
Safe Stocks No Matter What Happens

For more information on how your paper can take advantage of the Changing Times Financial Service, call Patricia Mertz at Changing Times (202) 887-6589, or Dan Perkes at AP (212) 621-1821. At your request, we'll also send you a Changing Times Financial Service logo to use with the copy.
